GUIDANCE & EDUCATION

Thank You for 100 Years of Career Development Leadership!

It's the Research, Innovation, Expertise, & Practice that Guides Our Work

One hundred years after Frank Parsons established the first vocational guidance clinic, it is a time to honor his work and the contribution of other renowned leaders that have guided the field of career guidance, education, and development with a year of celebratory events. The launch of the year long celebration will begin April 1, 2008 at the National Press Club in Washington, D.C. and continue at events throughout the year.
